

MADAGASCAR

An island near Africa,
famous for its rich
natural resources , its biodiversity and its beautiful landscapes

Most of the population live in great poverty .

The AIC volunteers have been working for more than 30 years to give help and accompany mothers, widows with many children in charge, living in the streets, begging in the markets.

The first project was “A Roof First”

Giving shelter to the homeless population means giving dignity to such deprived women.

Collaborating with the mothers, children are sent to school and can continue their studies as long as they can.

These children are also given lunch everyday.

Empowering the mothers:
The widows are given regular formations in hygiene, health care, nutrition, literacy courses (Tsiry Prpject), or in sustainable agricultural project of development.

Education

- The young people who finish their secondary education with success are sent to the universities or higher schools for professional formations.
- Many have become nurses , midwives , civil servants.
- This could be done thanks to twinning projects

One of the great challenges for AIC Madagascar is the CLIMATE CHANGE. Madagascar is suffering every year from the consequences of Natural disasters such as droughts, floods, cyclones, and hurricanes which destroy houses , agricultural products and creating hunger especially among the poorest ones.

Giving the house's key to mothers happy to regain dignity.

The volunteers have a mission : Protecting “The Common House.”

Thanks to the twinning with LCUSA, many projects have been realized.
We have happy widows with smiling children, happy and empowered young people facing the future with hope.
